

belize island community

sustainability

People always want to go to beautiful places. How can we build a community that is a model of sustainability, that promotes the responsible enjoyment of the local ecology, and preserves the health of the natural environment?

eco-development

community

eco-solutions

- Minimize the development footprint and the impact on natural habitat and hydrology.
- Create significant conservation areas and protect them from future development.
- Continually monitor the natural eco-systems and provide continuous accountability and educational resources.
- Adhere to strong Eco-Guidelines for sustainable development in order to regulate all human activity, including human travel paths, construction, energy generation, water resources, and complete waste management.

We will bridge the gap between human activity and conscientious preservation of the natural environment.

www.longcayebelize.com

design + build + green

verdeco
DESIGNS